17 Persons in Five Cities Die in Home Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fires swept homes in five separate cities during the night and early morning, killing 17 persons, including 14 children and two mothers.

Three other children suffered critical burns in two of the blazes. Firemen fought the fires in the low zero cold in the homes in Chicago and Hartford City, Ind. In each blaze, a mother and her four children died.

In Baltimore, with the mercury at 16 degrees, a fire killed two children while in Potomac, Tex., four small children perished when a kerosene bucket exploded, spreading flames throughout a one-room house.

The 17th victim of a fire was a young woman in New York City who died in a blaze in her lower East Side apartment.

In Hartford City, a bottle of gasoline dropped accidentally near a stove Thursday night in the home of Albert Coleman exploded, starting a fire which killed Mr. Coleman, 39, and four of his nine children. Three other children were hospitalized; two in critical condition and one seriously burned. Two other Coleman children and the father were not at home.

In Chicago, with the mercury 11 below zero, a mother and her four children perished in a blaze as they slept in their small basement apartment on the West Side. Ten other persons in the two-story brick building escaped uninjured. Dead were Myrtle Brown, 31, and her two sons and two daughters ranging in age from 14 to 3 years. Kenneth Brown, 34, the husband and father, was at work in his tavern when the fire started.

The victims of the fire in Potomac, in south Texas 20 miles south of San Antonio, ranged from 6 months to 6 years of age, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Garcia. Garcia suffered minor burns on the hands. A six-year-old daughter was in critical condition with burns over 65 per cent of her body. Police said Garcia was filling kerosene lamps when the explosion occurred.

A fire in the home of George A. Poe in Baltimore killed two of the Poe's four children. Poe told police he attempted to guide his four children to the street but the two eldest, Terresa 12, and Clayton 8, became separated from him. Their charred bodies were found by firemen.

In New York City, firemen found the body of Miss Jean Davis, 20, in the bathroom of her fifth floor apartment. She was in her nightgown.

Causes of the fires in Chicago, Baltimore and New York City were not determined.

Department Store Sales Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP)—For the first time since October, department store sales are up in the 8th Federal Reserve District.

District sales, boosted by an 8 per cent increase in the St. Louis area, were up 4 per cent last week compared to the similar week a year ago.

Sales were down 1 per cent in Louisville, 2 per cent in Little Rock and 1 per cent in Memphis, but seven smaller district cities combined showed a 4 per cent increase.

For the past four weeks, sales are down 3 per cent in the district. For the year to date, sales are down 1 per cent in the district with only St. Louis not showing a decline. The largest drop among the major areas was 5 per cent in Little Rock.

Cost of Living Pushed Up by Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jump in food prices pushed living costs to a new peak in November.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today its consumer price index rose to 127.4 from 127.3 in October. In this index, 100 represents average prices for the 1947-49 period.

It is unusual for food prices to rise in November. The bureau said this is the first time they have gone up in a November since 1951.

Also contributing to the November rise in the index were increases in movie admission fees and in costs of hospitalization insurance.

On the basis of the November index, about 225,000 workers will receive cost-of-living wage increases. The majority of these are employed in the meat packing and aircraft-missile industries and will receive two-cent hourly pay raises under labor contracts agreed to by the government's cost-of-living figures.

The bureau also reported that the after-tax earnings of factory workers declined between October and November as a result of shorter hours.

For the production worker with three dependents, spendable earnings were down 23 cents a week from October, to an average of $80.55. The buying power of factory workers was down about one-half of 1 per cent. This drop was due both to the decline in earnings and the rise in costs.

One Slightly Hurt in Wreck Here

Mrs. Doris Jean Jones suffered a mouth injury yesterday when the auto which she was driving ran into the rear of another vehicle on Pond Street. The second car, driven by Mrs. Vivian Mitchell, had stopped to pick up a pedestrian. There was damage to both cars. City Office Willis charged Mrs. Mitchell with failure to have a drivers license.

Chrisman Infant Dies Thursday

Randa Kay Chrisman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Chrisman, died Thursday at Blevins.

Survivors include three sisters, Barbara, Sharon and Connie, the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Smith of Blevins and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Viola Chrisman of Houston.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Marlbrook by the Rev. Bobby Alexander. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius will be in Marlbrook Cemetery.

Mrs. Simpson of Willisville Dies

Mrs. Willis Simpson, aged 67, died today at her home in Willisville. She is survived by her husband, five sons and a daughter. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at Willisville Methodist Church.

Star to Observe Christmas Mon.

As in the past the Star will suspend publication Monday, Dec. 26 in observance of Christmas. This is the third holiday the newspaper observes each year, the others being July 4 and Thanksgiving. Regular publication will be resumed Tuesday, Dec. 27.

Schools at New Orleans on Holiday

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—

Four New Orleans banks released long-frozen school money today and the city school board began processing checks to reach teachers at two integrated schools before Christmas.

The money also will go for salary payments to 54 administrative, supervisory and clerical staff members who have not been paid by the state.

School Supt. James Redmond said release of the money—estimated at about a million dollars—means the board can begin paying a half-million dollars in bills to vendors in the community.

In addition, the board will start paying contractors for construction and renovation work which has been already done. Mr. said the banks released the money following an order from U.S. District Court Wednesday.

Redmond said the paychecks to the employees at integrated William Frantz and McDonough No. 19 school will put all school employees on an equal basis. He said all will have missed one payday.

The U.S. District Court had ordered the banks to release some $728,000 in board funds which they had frozen. The court also ordered the city to turn over to the board $200,000 in taxes that have been held in escrow.

Angered by court ruling, which also cited three top state officials for contempt of court for withholding the salaries at the integrated schools, legislative leaders of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' administration decided against introduction of resolution to provide the paychecks.

Instead, with one last blast at the court ruling which it called "tyrannical, unreasonable, unsound, illegal," the lawmakers went home for a two week recess in this third special session called to fight integration.

Left in the balance until the lawmakers reconvene Jan. 4 was Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' plan to raise the state sales tax from two to three per cent for the first eight months of 1961 to provide $28 million for grants in aid to students who prefer to attend private segregated schools.

All school employees are due their regular pay checks today. For teachers and administrative personnel, the checks would be for December.

School Supt. James F. Redmond said Thursday that New Orleans banks were cashing checks that had been issued last month to some 1,100 employees. This was apparently an outgrowth of Wednesday's ruling.

Checks issued Dec. 9 and Dec. 16 also were being honored.

New Minister at Church of Christ

The new minister of the 5th and Grady Street Church of Christ is W. E. Morrow of Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow and son, Duane, now make their home at 615 West 5th Street.

Stamps Didn't Matter at All

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Nita White, 5, wanted to mail a letter to Santa Claus, but she didn't have a postage stamp. Undaunted, she pasted a trading stamp on her letter. Postal clerks dutifully canceled the stamp and forwarded Nita's letter to St. Nick.

Group Objects to Judge's Expenses

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—

The St. Francis County Citizens Committee filed suit Thursday to stop expense payments to County Judge M. C. Clark.

The Circuit Court action said the Quorum Court in November voted Clark an expense claim for $125 and authorized other similar monthly payments.

State law, the suit alleges, prohibits payments to county judges for expenses over and above his salary. It asks that Clark be enjoined from receiving other payments.

Mr. Kennedy Picks Adviser on Economy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—

President-elect John F. Kennedy today chose Dr. Walter W. Heller, University of Minnesota economist and tax scholar, to be chairman of his Council of Economic Advisers.

Heller, 45, was with Kennedy when he announced the appointment at a news conference.

In a discussion with newsmen, Heller said there has been a business recession for six months. He said the economy has been lagging for 3½ years.

Heller said he favors a policy of exploring the idea of adjusting taxes to economic conditions. While he did not say so specifically, Heller apparently was endorsing the idea of a possible tax reduction in times of recession.

Heller is head of the economics department in the University of Minnesota's School of Business Administration. He served for six years as tax adviser to Minnesota Gov. Orville L. Freeman who will be in the Kennedy Cabinet as secretary of agriculture.

Kennedy called Heller one of the country's most distinguished economists "with interests in the public policy problems facing the United States."

Kennedy said Heller "is eminently qualified to conduct the larger responsibilities that I envisage for the Council of Economic Advisers."

Kennedy went on to say that he intends "to return to the spirit" of the full employment law of 1946 under which the council was set up.

No Increase in Fire Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Insurance Commissioner Harvey G. Combs said today that fire insurance companies do not plan to ask for an increase in their Arkansas rates this year, although they show an average loss of two per cent for the past five years.

Insurance rates are figured on a five-year experience average. Combs said the companies received $71,825,360 in premiums this year and paid out 75,864,911 for claims and other expenses for a net loss of 3.3 per cent.

Since the companies are entitled to earn five per cent, the gross loss is much higher, Combs said. But the companies decided that refiguring rates would be more expensive than taking the loss, he added.

The five-year loss figure would be higher, Combs said, except that 1955, the first year on the chart, was an exceptionally good year. In 1955 companies paid out only 39.5 per cent of premiums. Most years this figure is around 50 per cent. It reached 2.8 per cent in 1956.

Another L. R. Plant Plans Layoffs

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Little Rock Plant of U.S. Time Corp. said today that approximately 600 employees about 80 per cent of them women, will be laid off at the end of this month because of a reduction in production schedules.

It will be the largest of three sets of work furloughs announced in Arkansas recently.

Overall, nearly 1,000 employees will be affected. Several weeks ago Reynolds Metals Co. announced that about 230 workers would be dropped temporarily at its Arkadelphia aluminum plant early next month.

The plant will close except for a casting facility employing about 70 persons.

Thursday the Missouri Pacific Railroad said about 100 shop employees at North Little Rock were being laid off but probably would be recalled about Jan. 3 or 4.

F. J. Orlantas, the general manager of U.S. Time, said the reduction in employment probably would last until early summer, when production schedules are expected to increase.

With the layoff, about 1,500 employees still will be working at the plant, which manufactures polaroid cameras and Timex watches, Orlantas said.

Reynolds has made no prediction as to when it may resume full production but a spokesman Thursday night said the suspension was temporary and that the plant would be reopened as soon as the demand for aluminum builds up again.

A Missouri Pacific spokesman said the railroad's layoffs, mostly in the car department, were necessary because this is a slack season at the shops.

Nixons Draw Applause

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his family attended a Broadway musical Thursday night and drew a round of applause.

Nixon stood up at the intermission and was immediately recognized. He acknowledged the applause by waving his hands.

With him at "Piccolo" were his wife and their two young daughters, Patricia and Julie.

Severe Cold Still Stings Most of U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A severe cold wave stung much of the eastern two-thirds of the country today. And more snow headed across the snow-covered northern sections from the Rockies into New England.

The iciest weather in several years toppled temperatures to record lows for the date in some areas. Not much relief was in sight immediately.

The Midwest, hit by a heavy snow storm earlier this week, got the zippiest weather, including a bone-chilling 24 below zero in Joliet, Ill., and —23 in International Falls, Minn.

South of the bitter cold, the freezing line extended into northern Florida, the central Gulf Coast, northern Texas and Louisiana.

Snow flurries peppered the Ohio Valley southward into Tennessee and northern Georgia. The cold air brought much discomfort as it swept from the highlands of the Carolinas into parts of Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama and into west-central Florida.

Some southern city low marks included Tallahassee, Fla., 26; Atlanta 21; Jacksonville, Fla., 30; Tampa, Fla., 37; Mobile, Ala., 26; Miami, 48.

The early winter cold zeroed across most areas of the Midwest. Below-zero marks were general from the eastern Dakotas into the upper Great Lakes region, northeast Iowa, Illinois, northern Indiana and northwest Ohio. In Chicago, some 40 miles northeast of Joliet, the —11 reading was the lowest mark in nine years—Dec. 16, 1951. The mercury dropped to —15 at O'Hare International Airport, northwest of Chicago, and in some other suburbs.

It was —20 in Grantsburg, Wis., and —19 in both Bradford, Ill., and Mason City, Iowa. Skies were clear in the cold belt.

The arctic blast also dropped thermometers below zero in Eastern areas, but not as low as in Albany, N. Y., and Harrisburg, Pa. The —2 reading in Lansing, Mich., and —1 in Detroit were record marks for Dec. 23.

Reynolds Says Closed Plant Is Temporary

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—"As soon as the demand for aluminum builds up among consumers, the plant will be reopened," a Reynolds Metals Co. official said Thursday night in emphasizing that the planned shutdown of an aluminum reduction plant is only temporary.

But Walter Rice, president of Reynolds Mining and vice president of Reynolds Metals, said he did not know how long the plant would be closed.

Reynolds announced in November that it planned to close the facility, which employed about 300 persons, in January. A casting facility, with about 70 employees, would continue in operation.

The company said the curtailment was due to an oversupply of aluminum. The reason the Arkadelphia plant was to be closed, the announcement said, was because it had the highest costs of any Reynolds plant.

Rice said Thursday night that the power cost at the Arkadelphia plant was the highest of any Reynolds plant in the United States. The cost of natural gas had much to do with the cost of generating electrical power, Rice said.

A spokesman for Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co. had said gas contributed only a small part of the cost.

Rice said gas was a substantial part.

R. E. Ritchie, chairman of the board of Arkansas Power & Light Co., went along with Gov. Orval E. Faubus' remark that the shutdown of the plant could be attributed to an oversupply of aluminum coupled with a national business decline.

"The governor is absolutely right," Ritchie said.

Faubus made his remarks in a meeting with a delegation from the Arkadelphia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. The group met with the governor to discuss economic matters, particularly the planned closing of the Reynolds plant.

Jury Fails to Enjoin Owners in Tenant Case

MEMPHIS (AP)—In a test of the 1957 Civil Rights Act, a federal judge has refused to enjoin white landowners from evicting Negro sharecroppers from farms in a west Tennessee county.

The government quickly announced it would appeal and asked for an immediate restraining order against the Haywood County landowners. A hearing on that will be held today.

Thursday's hearing was on a government plea for a pre-trial injunction to prevent evictions and to end alleged interference with Negro voting rights.

It was the first legal use of a section of the 1957 Civil Rights Act that deals with voter intimidation and coercion.

Judge Marion S. Boyd also postponed indefinitely a hearing in a similar suit against 81 residents and a bank in adjacent Fayette County. It had been scheduled for Dec. 27.

During the three-day hearing, the Justice Department Civil Rights Division claimed the evictions, timed for the end of the year, resulted from Negro attempts to vote.

Nearly a score of Negro farmers, most of whom have lived in the county all their lives, testified to having received eviction notices shortly after registering.

"It was the most savage, the most cruel step any group could take against citizens," said government attorney John Doar.

The defense argued the evictions were the natural result of farm mechanization. One defense witness, Montezuma Carter, said his mechanical cotton picker could do the work of nearly 60 field hands.

Under cross-examination, several of the Negro farmers admitted they could work the land with mules only.

Doar accused more than 70 defendants of circulating lists of Negroes to whom credit was not to be given and with holding meetings to discuss ways of forcing Negro voters from the land.

Haywood County is predominantly Negro, but earlier this year Negroes began registering there for probably the first time this century.

Boyd did issue a temporary injunction but restricted it to 13 of the defendants, and narrowed its meaning to exclude reference to the eviction of sharecroppers.

"Congress did not vest in this court the authority to adjust contracts and property rights," he said.

The injunction granted by Boyd forbids those named from interfering with the right to vote. No date for the trial itself has been set.

George Green, 90 Retired Grocer, Dies Thursday

George Muldrow Green, aged 90, a retired wholesale grocer, died Thursday at his home. He was born in Hempstead County and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include his wife, son, Major Carl B. Green (Army retired) of El Paso, Texas; one daughter, Mrs. John Williams of Little Rock and a sister, Miss Bessie Green of Hope.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. today at Oakcrest Funeral Chapel by Dr. L. T. Lawrence. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

City to Turn on New Lights Saturday p. m.

The City Electrical Department has completed the mercury vapor lighting installation and the system will be put into operation tomorrow night at 5:30 p.m.

Santa Claus will certainly visit downtown section of Hope this Christmas Eve bringing along the most complete downtown lighting job for any small city in the state if indeed not the best in the state.

At 5:30 p.m. tomorrow, the officials of Hope Water and Light Plant will certify the completion of this project to Mayor Sam Andrews and the Board of City Directors. Mayor Andrews will close the switch putting the new lighting system into operation.

Actually, there are eight fixtures yet to be added to this present installation. Three of them on South Main east of 3rd St. and two on Second Street below Hazel St. Three more fixtures are to be installed on existing creosote poles on 3rd St. along the frontage of the Tarpley Motel. Installation of the additional fixtures will be completed within the next few days, and the entire system will then be put into operation.

The Water and Light Commission, in the budget for the coming year, have provided for an additional 30 fixtures to be added to the present ones which will extend the lighting job down the main arteries leading away from the business section. Plans are to continue this program until our highways leading into town will be marked by a lighting job that will be outstanding in the state.

The improved lighting system is only a part of the rebuilding job that is taking place in the Electric Distribution System. The entire system is being rebuilt and converted to a higher voltage which will improve the service to all the users and bring service from the Hope electric system up to the very highest standards.

The job of rebuilding the system is nearly 50% complete, according to B. W. Edwards, chairman of the Water and Light Commission, the program is to continue as fast as the line crews are able to install the additional equipment. Final completion of this program will require about two years of additional work.

Automation in Industry Is Red Aim

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Soviet Union is mounting a major scientific effort aimed at converting its industries to automation, a study team of mathematicians said today.

The conclusion was made by an 11-man panel after studying recent Soviet contribution mathematics.

"There is reason to believe that the U.S.S.R. can achieve a rapid acceleration in its rate of technological progress by an all-out scientific program in the field of automatic control," the 350-page report said.

The panel of mathematicians was organized by the Research Institute for Advance Studies at the Martin Co. Its assignment was to evaluate Soviet research and try to discover the objective of Soviet science.

Dr. Joseph LaSalle, chairman of the special panel, said Soviet mathematics is revealing "because the level of mathematics of a country is an important measure of the strength of its science and technology."

The report concluded that "in mathematics the Soviet Union and the United States lead the world and are about at the same level." It predicted the Soviet Union will move at a faster rate in the application of theories.

The study was prepared for limited distribution among scientists and was made available to interested government agencies.

Her Little Boy Wants to Know
If There Is a Santa Claus

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

Do you tell a 7-year-old boy that there is no Santa Claus? My boy has been told the truth about everything except this from the time he asks his first question. How can I explain so that his disappointment won't be too great? He has believed until now that there is a Santa Claus.

With Christmas coming, I want to prepare him in advance. I am expecting again and would like your opinion as to whether children should ever be taught to believe in Santa Claus. —Rose Marie Wilson

Dear Mrs. Wilson: Children should be taught to believe that there is, and always will be, a Santa Claus. To tell your little boy otherwise is to destroy his faith in the belief of good to come. But explain to him that and Mrs. Louis Bandy.

Mrs. John Owen will join Ralph Owen and Eddie of Tulsa, Okla. in a trip to Texarkana for Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walker.

Ex-Slave Dies at Age of 113 Years

DE QUEEN, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Kate Washington, born in slavery in Mississippi, died at her daughter's home at nearby Lockesburg Tuesday at the age of 113.

The elderly woman lived with Mrs. James Kidd, youngest of her eight children.

Mrs. Washington moved from Mississippi to the Camden, Ark., area when she was a young woman, and later went to Springhill, La. She moved from Springhill to Lockesburg about 30 years ago. Mrs. Washington's husband died about 12 years ago.

In addition to six sons and two daughters, Mrs. Washington had 13 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services are scheduled Saturday at Lockesburg.

Interior Secy.
Gets a Beard

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A Tucson civic club gave Interior Secretary-designate Stewart L. Udall a gray wig and false beard with this comment: "These will add a little more maturity at President-elect Kennedy's first Cabinet meeting."

Aluminum Bowl Not Supported

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The first Aluminum Bowl Basketball Classic may be the last—unless an underwriter can be found. Financial reports from the Wednesday-Thursday night event here aren't complete, but total attendance was only about 4,800. The University of Arkansas had to guarantee Texas, Tennessee, Alabama $2,500 each to get them. "We can't afford to underwrite it again," said Glen Rose, Arkansas basketball coach. "We can't afford to take a loss every year, not when we can go somewhere else and collect $2,000." Rose said the only way a second event could be scheduled is

Daly, New Wife on Honeymoon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hailed by a crowd of 2,000, broadcaster John Daly and Virginia Warren, daughter of the Chief Justice of the United States, were married Thursday, then flew to Hawaii for their honeymoon. The "What's My Line?" moderator and former ABC news director became a little nervous before the altar and had some difficulty speaking when it was his turn in the candlelight ceremony. "I didn't think it was possible for me to get the whips," said the veteran television personality after his performance. "But I got 'em bad!" About 200 guests crowded in the church. Nearly 2,000 persons stood outside. Chief Justice Earl Warren, a former California governor, gave his daughter away. Daly's uncle, Herbert Cockshaw, of New York, was the best man. Daly is 46, his bride 32. It was the second marriage for Daly. Only one or eight Americans now live on a farm.

Bond Set for Slayer of Granddaughter

NOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs today authorized bond of $20,000 for Mrs. Garrie Talley, 66, who is charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of her 17-year-old granddaughter. Dobbs designated $5,000 of the amount as a peace bond. Mrs. Talley has been in jail or in State Hospital, where she was declared sane, since the Sept. 13 shooting. The girl, Carolyn Talley, was killed while she was on the front porch of a house where her grandmother was baby-sitting. Mrs. Talley said Carolyn had been forbidden to come to the house and that she was only trying to frighten the girl away.

Texas, Porks Win Pair Over SE Loop Foes

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Texas and Arkansas both had the air of potential Southwest Conference champions Thursday night as they whipped Alabama and Tennessee in the final round of the first Aluminum Bowl Basketball Classic.

Texas hit 49 per cent of its floor shots in trimming Alabama 79-78. Arkansas hit 54 per cent in beating Tennessee 89-78. The victories completed a four-game sweep for the Southwest Conference entries over their Southeastern Conference rivals.

Texas Coach Harold Bradley and Arkansas Coach Glen Rose were duly impressed with the other's showing, but they agreed that Texas A&M should be rated above their teams in the upcoming Southwest Conference race. "A&M is my choice to win it," Bradley said. "They have four starters and a 7-foot sophomore named Lewis Qualls. I don't know how good he is, but he certainly presents some problems."

Rose solemnly agreed. With both their clubs rated high, these coaches were glad to sing somebody else's praises. Arkansas and Texas open the SWC season in Austin Jan. 4.

The close score in the Texas-Alabama game shouldn't take any credit from the Longhorns. Tide never gave up, but just didn't have the manpower to run with Texas' little men and rebound with the Longhorns' big ones.

Al Almanza (6-8) and Donnie Lasiter (5-11) each scored 21 points for Texas. The Longhorns used a late stall to dampen a ferocious Alabama charge one point short of a tie.

All five Arkansas starters scored 14 points or better, an especially impressive showing. Alan Morrison led with 21 points and the junior also got 13 rebounds. Eddie Test and Glenn Campbell scored 17 points each for Tennessee. The Volunteers led at half-time 50-49 but Arkansas' awesome scoring balance easily overcame Tennessee in the second half.

Larry Pennington scored 27 points for Alabama against Texas and Harold Hoskins added 20. Texas had four men in double figures.

An all-star team picked by writers and broadcasters included Almanza and Lasiter of Texas, Pennington of Alabama, Bobby Carter of Tennessee and Jerry Carlton of Arkansas.

Carlton scored 29 points Wednesday night as Arkansas beat Alabama 83-76. Texas beat Tennessee 77-73 in the first round. The Aluminum Bowl was not a tournament.

The first Aluminum Bowl was a financial setback for its promoters. Only 4,900 fans showed up for the two-night stand although 10,000 were expected. There were indications the meet might not be held next year.

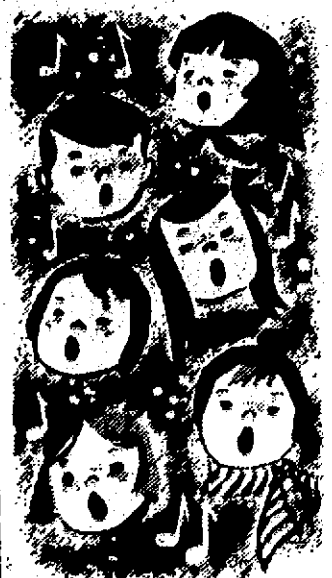

Sophomore Tommy Boyer who scored 17 points for Arkansas, Carlton hit 16, Ronnie Garner 15 and Pat Foster 14.

Fishing Around Arkansas Lakes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Here is a fishing forecast from the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission: Lake Norfolk: Fishing not good. Bull Shoals Lake: Fishing not good.

Lake Hamilton: Clear and five feet low; bass fair to good on artificial baits; crappie fair on artificial and live baits; bream fair on crickets and worms.

Lake Catherine: Fishing poor. Lake Ouachita: No fishing. Lake Conway: All fishing fair. Lake Greson: No fishing.

Buckeyes Are Really Tough, Detroit Finds

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer—This Ohio State team is tough, really tough. Not only do the Buckeyes win with finesse and power, but they have the brain cells going 24 hours a day, too.

Ohio State, currently the nation's top-ranked college basketball team, beat highly touted and ambitious Detroit Thursday night 84-73. Big thanks go to a successfully executed plan by Coach Fred Taylor and player John Havlicek.

Taylor said he knew that Dave Debusschere, Detroit's big scorer, had been under the weather and was seeing a doctor.

"This confirmed what our scout Frank Truitt told us, that he (Debusschere) had not been working hard for his shots," Taylor said. "We figured to force him far out on the floor and make him shoot long shots. In the second half he got only six shots off Havlicek and didn't make any."

In fact, Debusschere got only 14 points, 10 early in the game, and the Titans simply couldn't match the over-all firepower of All America Jerry Lucas, 40.

St. John's, which could possibly meet the Buckeyes next week in New York's Holiday Festival, beat Gonzaga 97-96 Thursday night. Both the Redmen (No. 6) and Ohio State have 6-0 records. St. John's must beat scrappy Providence, and Ohio State has to get by Seton Hall to set up a semifinal round pairing between the two. The winner is the most likely tournament champion.

Tom Kiefer's crucial points behind helped St. Louis beat Kentucky 74-72 in overtime and win the Wildcats invitational tournament. California took third place, beating Illinois 72-54.

Elsewhere Utah used reserves most of the second half and still walloped Los Angeles State 105-76. Kansas won over San Francisco 60-43. Brigham Young defeated Kent State (Ohio) 66-51. Michigan State beat Iowa State 92-81. Virginia Tech ran over South Carolina 106-75. Oklahoma conquered Texas Tech 75 to 56, and NYU squeaked past Long Island U. 64-62.

Arkansas defeated Tennessee 89-76 and Texas edged Alabama 79-78 to complete a four-game sweep of the Aluminum Bowl by the two Southwest Conference schools over the two representatives from the Southeastern Conference.

Running Is Best Against the Eagles

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Coach Vince Lombardi said today that the Green Bay Packers will follow his script when they meet the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football League title round.

The Packers and the Eagles play for the NFL crown at noon EST Monday in Philadelphia. Lombardi wouldn't spell out definite strategy for the contest. However, he hasn't tried to make it a secret that the Packers will rely heavily on their powerful running attack. And he also wants control of the ball.

He has two things in mind. Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin—who has 24 touchdown passes for the season—can't throw the ball unless he has it. The running attack has proved to be the best type of offensive against the Eagles.

To carry out his conquest plans, Lombardi has backs Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor—just about the best one-two running slam in the league. He also has the passing ability of Bart Starr at hand should anything happen to break up the Hornung-Taylor combination on the overland trail.

slugging championship, official averages confirmed today.

Robinson came up with a .595 slugging percentage with 27 total bases in 44 times at bat.

However, his batting average was only .297 compared with .311 in 1959. He had 31 home runs in 1960 and 63 in 1959.

Robinson succeeded Milwaukee's Hank Aaron as the slugging champion. Aaron finished second during the past season with a mark of .566.

Committee Takes Blast at the CAB

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House subcommittee that exposed the TV quiz show scandals has fired a parting salvo of criticism at the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It was learned Tuesday night that the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which goes out of business Jan. 3, adopted the critical report of its staff at a secret meeting Friday. The report is to be made public today.

Rep. Steven B. Derounian R-N.Y., was one of several subcommittee members who protested making the report public. Derounian called it "unfair, unjust and beneath the dignity of a congressional committee supposed to be seeking the facts."

There was no immediate comment from CAB or ICC spokesmen.

The charges in the report were in general terms and made few specific allegations against individuals. Among subcommittee charges:

1. The ICC was lax in renewing the operating certificate of Interstate Dress Carriers, Inc., a New York truck company that hauls garments, despite the company's

Newsman Turn to the Year Enders

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is the season when a lot of us newspapermen become engaged in the production of retrospective articles known in the trade as "year enders."

These pieces usually take the form of reviews or summaries of the major happenings of the year. One traditional "year ender" is the selection of the 10 most important news stories.

In most cases, the "year enders" appear in print during the interlude between Christmas and New Year's when the normal flow of news dwindles somewhat. But for me, the holiday doldrums appear to be setting in early this year.

So, if you don't mind, I will go ahead with my "year ender" now. Herewith, then, is a month-by-month chronicle of "the most quickly forgotten news stories of 1960."

JANUARY — Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., introduced a bill to create a free capital guide service. He claimed there was a precedent for this in the distribution of free government booklets on "the sex life of bullfrogs."

FEBRUARY — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., opened presidential campaign headquarters next door to a rubber stamp store.

MARCH — Teddy Nadler, the biggest money winner in the history of television quiz programs,

"long history of violations of ICC regulations."

2. Alleged close relations between a trucking trade association and ICC officials in Texas and alleged favored treatment for the association in enforcing regulations. No names of companies or individuals were specified except for last names of some ICC personnel and others in several letters quoted by the subcommittee report.

3. The CAB's findings of probable cause of air accidents "are conditioned on the effect such findings may have on the promotion of civil aviation." Also, the CAB takes too long to decide economic proceedings before it and certain CAB officials have received "unusual hospitality from air carriers." "Again no names were specified."

Under terms of the special resolution creating it, the subcommittee goes out of business Jan. 3. Subcommittee members reportedly have agreed not to ask that its term be extended or renewed.

applied for a job as a census-taker but flunked the test. This tended to quash any rumors that the 1960 census had been rigged.

APRIL — A former page girl at the DAR convention filed a slander suit against two DAR officials for suggesting that she had spent too much time in the basement with a policeman.

MAY — Sen. Orin E. Long, D-Hawaii, complained that a Hawaiian liqueur called "Passion Fruit" had been banned in Texas.

JUNE — During a call on Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Shirley Temple disclosed that while at a Hollywood reception for Nikita Khrushchev she touched the Soviet premier on the tummy.

JULY — The Library of Congress uncovered a letter revealing what Abraham Lincoln did on the fourth day after he was nominated for president. He stayed home and caught up on his correspondence.

AUGUST — The American Bar Association met here for its national convention. One of the speakers was Raymond Burr, television's Perry Mason.

SEPTEMBER — Mrs. John F. Kennedy began writing a weekly column called "campaign wife."

OCTOBER — The Smithsonian Institution concluded, after an agonizing reappraisal, that counting the number of rings is not always a reliable method of determining the age of a tree.

NOVEMBER — The White House was repainted and Mrs. Kennedy ceased writing her columns.

Own Rocket Makes Youth Very Happy

By GENE HANDSAKER

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — "I'm the happiest boy alive," a young Minnesotan said after the successful firing of the homemade rocket he had sweated over for nearly five years.

Experts call it the most complex amateur missile ever built.

DECEMBER — Sir Edmund P. Hillary, decided that the "abominable snowman" was only a myth.

It's the only one built by a layman ever fired from a U.S. naval base. A previous attempt to launch it here fizzled last September because of the failure of a 10-cent connector.

The Navy, more than mildly interested, had 70 technicians get it ready for the launch Wednesday at this mountain-rimmed Naval Ordnance Test Station on the Mojave Desert, 13 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Marshall Kriesel, 20, the ruggedly handsome designer-builder, who has applied for a patent on part of the guidance system, directed the count-down from a concrete blockhouse 500 feet away.

The 11-foot missile, five inches thick, was designed to go 14 miles high but ascended only about 2, 000 feet.

Success anyway? Yes, say Navy scientists, despite a malfunction in the controlling fins up front. Robert Blaise, associate head of China Lake's missile propulsion division, said the rocket's liquid propulsion system worked "excellently."

Said young Kriesel, "We've demonstrated some new principles."

He'll spend the next 10 days of his Christmas vacation at the base, analyzing data from recording devices including high-speed cameras whose film, slowed down, will stretch the seven-second flight into an hour.

Kriesel is a 6-foot-2, 190-pound, blue-eyed, brown-haired sophomore majoring in aeronautical

Steel, Labor Make Peace During 1960

By W. A. SWARTWORTH
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Labor peace came to the steel industry at the outset of 1960 and all signs pointed to a record business year. But slumping production and unemployment smothered the potential boom.

As the new decade began, some steel officials confidently predicted unparalleled production of 130 million net tons—or more—for the year.

was in the neighborhood of 99 million tons.

This still made 1960 the sixth best tonnage year in the books—thanks to a tremendous start. But the average operating rate was only about 7 per cent of capacity.

For a time it seemed forecasts of a boom year might hit the mark. The nation's mills, running near full speed after the record 11-day strike of 1959, produced 34,739,210 tons in the first quarter—tops for any three-month period in history.

Then steel consumers taking stock of bulging inventories, began reducing orders. Mills slowed down; furlough notices went up.

The industry's operating rate slipped from a peak 95.7 per cent in January to 42.2 per cent in the

Education Financing To Be Issue

(This is the second in a series of articles on legislation expected to come before the 1961 Arkansas General Assembly.)

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Congressional redistricting probably will stir the most controversy and get the big headlines during the 1961 Legislature, but lawmakers are aware that their biggest task will be in the field of public education.

Nearly all legislators responding to an Associated Press poll said educational financing will be one of the most important items of business in the coming session.

Two of the proposals on education have controversial overtones—a proposed $53 million bond issue, mostly for university and college construction, and a proposed revision of the teacher retirement system.

The Legislature also must decide how to distribute an estimated $10½ million in additional funds that will be available for education each year, beginning in 1961-62.

Proponents of the bond issue—at this time limited mainly to educational officials—have suggested the bonds be retired with a one cent a bottle tax on soft drinks. This was greeted with howls of protest from the bottling industry. But some new sources of revenue must be tapped if the bonds are issued.

The bond proposal starts with two strikes against it.

Strike one: Arkansas hasn't floated a bond issue since 1948 and that one was for an emergency highway building program. These bonds since have been retired and the Faubus administration has boasted that it has reduced the state's bonded debt.

Strike two: Most legislators and Gov. Orval E. Faubus are on record opposing any new taxes on the heels of the $22 million tax increase package passed in 1957.

The bond issue won't have clear sailing, even if the legislature approves it. It would have to get a majority vote in an election called by Faubus. Results of the Nov. 8 election, in which a proposal to give cities broader taxing powers was soundly defeated indicate the electorate is in no mood for more taxes.

Most legislators said they were undecided on how they would vote on the bond proposal. However, several, including Pike Rep. Alvis Stokes, said flatly: "Let's pay as we go."

Jackson Rep. Lonnie Ethridge said, "If it will take a bond issue to meet the need, it is my belief the Legislature, working with the people, will find ways to fill the need."

Sen. Clarence Bell of Parkin, himself an educator, said a major construction program at the colleges is long overdue. He did not endorse the bond issue, but he predicted some means would be found to get the program started next year.

The matter of teacher retirement should be more easily solved. Teachers have indicated they would like to be covered by Social Security and legislators believe such a move would save the state money.

The state now is contributing about three dollars to the retirement program for each dollar the teachers put in. Members of the Legislative Council, which probed the matter recently, seemed to

Rusk Seems to Be Team Player Type

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lot less talking and a lot less traveling. Those will probably be two basic differences between the way the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles handled foreign affairs and the way Dean Rusk, who will take office as secretary next January, will do his job.

There's another: Rusk appears to be more of a teamplayer than Dulles, who ran a one-man show. Right at the beginning of 1953 the nation got an early insight—although this wasn't realized at the time—into how President Eisenhower's new secretary, Dulles, would operate.

Rusk, President-elect John F. Kennedy's hand-picked secretary, has already perhaps given an early insight into his ideas on running the State Department. If so, they are quite different from Dulles'.

Only six days after taking office on Jan. 21, 1953, Dulles was making a report on Eisenhower's foreign policy before it had even begun.

It set the pattern for many similar reports and public pronouncements to follow in the next six years before Dulles died May 24, 1959.

Only nine days after taking office he dashed overseas for a 10-day European survey. This set a pattern, too. Dulles made so many overseas trips he became far and away the most traveled secretary of state in history.

But this traveling brought him a lot of criticism on grounds like these:

1. That he should have spent far more time in Washington, thinking about foreign policy and listening to advisors, instead of racing around the world to attend to details and negotiations subordinates could have handled.
2. That his apparent feeling he had to handle everything personally showed little confidence in his ambassadors abroad and his staff at home. Instead of teamwork, the State Department would up with a one-man operation.

Dulles was a dominant man, and Eisenhower relied on him tremendously. Dulles was already a national figure in the foreign field before he took office. Rusk is hardly known to the public.

Therefore, it would be unusual if Rusk attempted to start out with the same take-charge air that Dulles showed. Rusk doesn't

Having a Time Getting Married

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A leaky fountain pen and a mislaid blood test certificate notwithstanding, John Charles Daly and Virginia Warren today await their Thursday afternoon wedding.

The radio and television personality and the blonde daughter of Chief Justice Earl Warren obtained their $2 marriage license here Tuesday, but not before Daly's leaking pen had been replaced and a call to his New York physician produced the required blood information.

Daly gave his age as 46, said he was born in Johannesburg, South Africa, and noted he had been married and divorced. Miss Warren listed her age as 32.

He said "too much personal travel can get to be a bad habit."

On Dec. 12, when Kennedy appointed him, Rusk was asked by newsmen if he had any very early travel plans. He said no.

Nor does he seem anxious to start making public pronouncements about foreign policy problems in a hurry.

He told the same reporters on the same day when asked his foreign policy views: "I think it would be wiser for me not to get into specific questions on policy matters... at this time."

Rusk, judging from what he reportedly thought before being named secretary, doesn't minimize the role of the secretary of state in foreign policy but considers the role of the president in that field as of the first importance.

This attitude may explain in part why Kennedy picked him after looking over the field of likely prospects for the job. It seems clear from Kennedy's conduct he intends to be boss in both domestic and foreign problems.

Some Dispute on Day Christ Was Born

By JAMES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Plainly the birth of Christ was one of the most significant events in the history of the world.

It brought lordly kings to a lowly stable; it caused Herod of Judea to commit one of the cruelest atrocities known to man; and it gave the world a new date of reckoning—anno Domini.

Yet no one knows precisely when it happened.

Christmas was not one of the earliest Christian festivals, and before the fifth century there was no general agreement when to celebrate it.

Various chronologists suggested May 20, April 19, Nov. 17 and other dates, but most churches resolved the problem simply by including the birth celebration in the baptismal feast of Jan. 6.

Meantime, the chief pagan festival of the day was "Natalis Invicti Solis"—the birthday of the unconquerable sun. It was celebrated throughout the Roman Empire on Dec. 25, during the winter solstice and the month of Yule.

It was logical in the Christianizing efforts of church leaders to supplant the pagan celebration with one in honor of the birth of Christ—the "sun of righteousness," as Malachi had written. Logical, maybe, but not easy.

The transition began about the year 354 and took nearly two centuries. Though all aspects of pa-band, Prince Philip, arrived at Liverpool station a few minutes before the train was scheduled to leave.

With them were Prince Charles, Princess Anne and Prince Andrew.

Just at departure time, Queen Mother Elizabeth and the queen's younger sister, Princess Margaret, with her commoner husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones, pulled up at the platform. Their car had been delayed by heavy downtown traffic.

The train pulled out two minutes late.

May your Christmas be gay and merry!

ganism were gone from the Christian application of the feast, Syrians, Armenians and others who clung to Jan. 6 accused the Roman Christians of sin worship, and when Bishop Juvenal introduced the new date in Jerusalem it caused riots.

As Christianity spread, acceptance of Dec. 25 as the Lord's birthday gradually came about.

In the years that followed Christmas gained increasing importance in the Christian world. Traditions sprang up, and the 13th century gave birth to a new type of joyful hymn called the Christmas carol.

But the struggle wasn't over. Puritans in England held that no feast of human origin should outrank the Sabbath and did not celebrate Christmas. When they came into power in 1644 Parliament ordained that Christmas celebrations be banished from the land and there were punishments for violators.

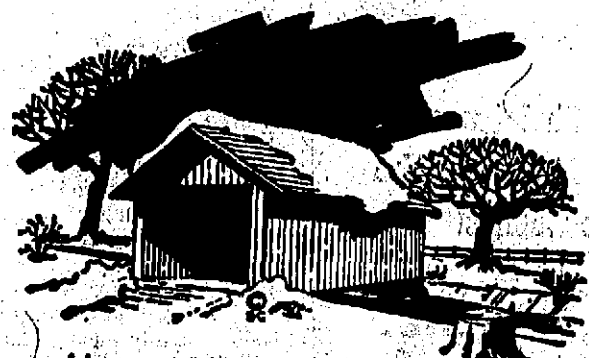

The Puritans fell from power in 1660 and Christmas returned to merry England; but the zeal of Puritan immigrants to America persisted to the latter part of the last century.

Christmas celebrations were forbidden in Puritan colonies, and Dec. 25 was a common workday in Boston until 1856. As late as 1870, in fact, classes were held on Christmas day in Boston's public schools.

But immigrants from other countries came to America, too, and brought not only the feast but most of the Christmas customs we since have come to regard as "American."

What Was Celebration All About

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—'Twas the night before the night before Christmas, and all through the town the visitor could find no indication of what the celebration was about.

He walked along the marble-fronted buildings of Beverly Hills, their windows ablaze with sable and silver. The street lamps of Wilshire Boulevard were brightly lit with pictures of choristers, reindeer and a fat man in a chimney. Judging from these, the season might mark some pagan festival.

TV cowboys just off the range were filling their sports cars with gifts. The choice was vast. At Uncle Bernie's Toy Menagerie, parents could buy their kiddies a six-foot stuffed dinosaur for $50, or some singing toy birds for $400, including cage.

At the Gourmet, late shoppers could pick up fresh Iranian caviar at $45 the pound or a methuselah (208 oz.) of French champagne for $75. Or, for those with jaded tastes, there were baby Bruce Bennett said Tuesday.

The opinion went to Mrs. E. L. Bishop of North Little Rock, both a state and national official of the party.

The National States Rights party received about 28,000 Arkansas votes in the 1960 general election — more than enough to qualify the party for recognition.

A party must receive at least five per cent of the vote to be legally recognized in Arkansas.

An Arkansas States Rights elector slate ran third in the 1960 election. The party collected about 30,000 petition signatures to qualify the slate.

bees, chocolate covered ants, buffalo meat, quail eggs, rattlesnake (diamond back, of course), alligator soup, fried grasshoppers, whale meat.

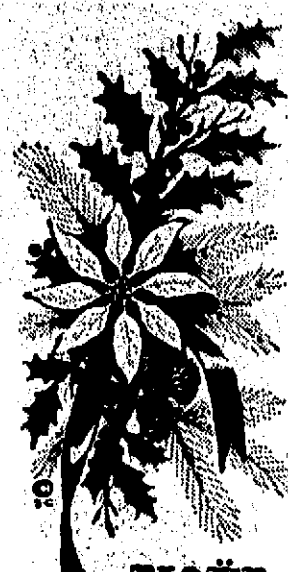

The visitor wandered into the drug store at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel. It was also equipped for the outpouring of dollars. Five hundred of them could buy a man's hair brush—satinwood, wild boar bristle—$450 a solid gold compact.

"We don't sell many compacts because they're too heavy," explained a salesgirl. "But we do sell some of the brushes; they're a nice gift for the man who has everything."

The visitor journeyed eastward, stopping at a wayside inn on the Sunset Strip. There he found celebrators but no hint of what they celebrated. Some gained cheer with a wassail called the Santa baby cocktail — cranberry juice and vodka.

Onward to Hollywood Boulevard he went, there to be greeted by endless repetition overhead of Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer wretched in gold tinsel. The visitor contemplated what Dancer, Francer and the other black-nosed veterans would say about this reindeer-come-lately.

The visitor failed in his quest until he left the brilliant lights behind and started over the Cañuenga Pass. High on a hill above the pilgrimage theater he discovered a white neon cross that gave him a hint of what the celebration was for.

The Real Meaning of Christmas

There is a better thing than the observance of Christmas day, and that is, keeping Christmas.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; . . . to see that your fellow-men are just as real as you are, and to try to look behind their faces to their hearts, hungry for joy; . . . to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness — are you willing to do these things, even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weaknesses and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, and ask yourself whether you love them; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; . . .

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world — stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death — and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of the Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas.

And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

But you can never keep it alone.

Things Heard at Office Yule Party

By HAL BOYLE

"Who put the gin in the water cooler?"

"Go on Mabel, be a sport. The boss has been standing under the mistletoe for 40 minutes now."

"You know, Miss Hotchkiss, a girl like you could go far in this firm if she played her cards right."

"It's the third time your wife called, Joe. Shall I tell her again you just left?"

"Put yourself in my place, J.B. — 17 years in the mail room and don't little to show for it, security-wise."

"Take your hand off my knee, Mr. Frothingham."

"Keep pouring, Fred. What's a holiday punch without a little kick to it?"

"Look at the janitor. He's got his arm around the boss and is telling him how to run the organization."

"We're both orphans of life's emotional storm, Miss Jaundice. Let's just call it Kismet."

"Sometimes I don't think my wife really understands me. Basically, that is."

"Let's call up good old George in London. The office can foot the bill."

"Yeah, a party's okay, but let's get to the meat of cranberry. When do they hand out the Christmas bonuses?"

"Hey, somebody give me a hand, will you? Charlie's out on the window ledge trying to catch a pigeon with a handful of potato chips."

"Fred was here just a few minutes ago. Have you looked under his desk?"

"No, I don't mind your singing, Jim, but don't you know any other tune than 'Sweet Adeline'?"

"Let's face it—Santa Claus is a father image, a sublimation of our own inadequacies and frustrations. Myth-wise, it can be proved more adults than kids believe in Santa."

"Hurry, that wild-looking one from the stenographic pool is going into her dance again. Crazy, man."

"Whose idea of a joke was it to toss a lighted cigarette in the file cabinet?"

"All right, quiet down everybody. I want to introduce your friend and mine, the greatest little old boss in the world—good old J.B. himself."

"Shhh, Joe, not yet. They're still pouring black coffee in him."

Many Things Turn Real at Christmas

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Staff Writer

A 4-year-old girl will find a cowboy suit and pair of sixguns under the tree Sunday. A 1-year-old boy will get a football from Santa. And a Little Rock couple is getting the Cotton Bowl for Christmas.

Strange gifts? Not at all. They're just some items turned up in random survey of Christmas in Arkansas.

The girl, you see, wanted the cowboy outfit, which comes complete with black hat and boots. She'll also get a table and chairs. "Like big people have," her Santa's helper added.

The football-player-to-be didn't actually express a preference for the pigskin, though his mother noted "he knows how to kick but he's a left-footed punter." Santa also will leave him some toy trucks, building logs and a two-gun holster.

But the Cotton Bowl? Well, explained the wife, when the kids' presents were bought what remained would finance gifts for her and her husband or a trip to see Arkansas play Duke in Dallas. So they're giving each other the Cotton Bowl trip for Christmas.

Another wife's Christmas present, her husband said, will be "a promissory note for a new tile floor in the kitchen."

But Christmas mainly is for the kids. And kids means toys.

"With girls it's dolls until they're grown," a father of two of them said. Both the 8-year-old daughter and the one 17 months old are getting dolls, with a watch thrown in for the older girl.

A father of four whose oldest is a 15-year-old girl confirmed the doll interest. His 6 and 8-year-old daughters are getting life-size dolls. Their older sister's big gifts tend toward clothing, jewelry and the like, but there's a little doll for her, too.

Dolls, however, require doll clothes, a distraught daddy added. His 9-year-old got a big doll last year and "that doll's got better clothes than she has...you can spend a fortune on clothing for those dolls."

That 9-year-old also is getting a bicycle and her 11-year-old brother will find a .22 rifle, a basketball and basket and an underwater swimming outfit in his boxes.

That sounds like quite a Christmas for a three-kid family, but the third one is only nine months old and "we're going to cheat her," father confessed.

Another senior Santa echoed this line. His 3-year-old boy will soon have a "choo-choo train" among his other toys, but the 2-year-old "doesn't care what he gets." And that means a jack-in-the-box.

One family will soon be a two-train family. Santa's giving the 5-year-old boy an electric train and his 3-year-old brother a windup variety. Another 5-year-old boy will receive a 4-speed record player among other things.

Footballs and uniforms are slated for some boys 6 and 9 and a pair of 3-year-old girls will be able to help with the housecleaning using a miniature cleanup set.

And nearly every kid can count on something in the clothing line. The more kids in the family, the more Christmas clothes, one father of three philosophized.

One 4-year-old girl will get, in addition to clothing, a doll house, buggy and other doll mothering necessities—including an electric iron "so she can iron her doll's clothes."

Good training for white shirts? Well, said the practical mother, "She's already doing handkerchiefs."

Christmas Dominates TV Screens

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Holiday themes continue to dominate the television screens for the rest of the Christmas-New Year period.

NBC's Telephone Hour tonight jumps the gun by 24 hours with a musical hour (9-10 EST) built around the title "Twas the Night Before," with the help of Maureen O'Hara, Rise Stevens and John Raitt. And then on CBS' "Twilight Zone" there's Art Carney playing a sad department store Santa in "Night of the Week" (10-10:30).

Highlights of Saturday are, of course, the Protestant and Roman Catholic services which all three major networks will televise during the later part of Christmas Eve.

On the holiday itself, CBS will have a special "Christmas, U. S. A." program at 10 a. m. Sunday, showing how various communities are celebrating. There's a repeat of last year's "Christmas Startime" on CBS (5-6 p. m.) with Leonard Bernstein and Marian Anderson. And Dinah Shore on her NBC program (9-10 p. m.) will pick up and expand the morning's theme with "Christmas Around the World."

Monday night's "CBS Reports" (8-9) is "The Great Holiday Massacre," a sober account of a traffic accident last Labor Day. "The Cheaters" is the name of Tuesday's NBC thriller episode (9-10 p. m.), followed immediately by a rebroadcast of last season's comedy, "After Hours," with Christopher Plummer and Sally Ann Howes.

"Operation Northstar" is the spy drama on Wednesday's CBS Steel Hour (10-11 p. m.) with Barry Sullivan and Mona Freeman the leading players.

On Thursday night (9:30-10:30) there is a 90-minute condensation of the 1952 TV series, "Victory at Sea," complete with Richard Rodgers' memorable score. It conflicts with CBS' annual year end roundtable of its far-flung correspondents with Edward R. Murrow presiding and called "Years of Crisis" (10-11).

Every second the sun sends out a million times more energy than is stored in all the earth's coal, petroleum and natural gas fields.

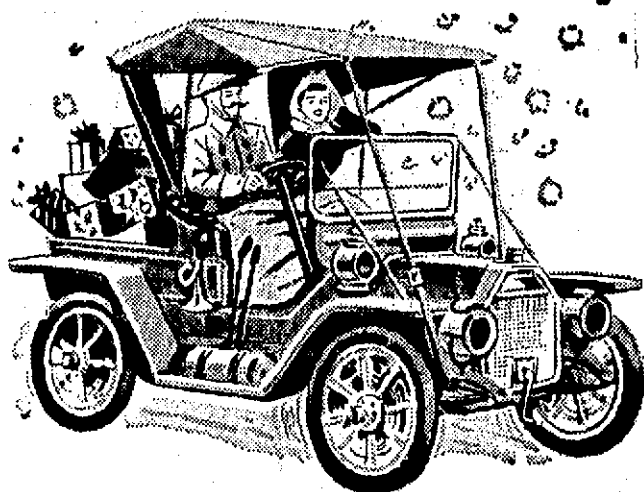

We hope the blessed joys of Christmas remain with you all year!

Tapes Show Airliner Off Course

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio tapes show that a United Air Lines jet streaked off course just before emergency. Nobody declared any collision with a Trans World Airliner over Staten Island, but the recordings offer no clue as to why.

The tapes released Wednesday by the Federal Aviation Agency disclose that the La Guardia field controller tried, but failed, to reach the TWA Super Constellation after warning it of the approaching jet.

An instant later came the voice of the radar-scanning La Guardia controller saying: "I think we have trouble here with a TWA Connie. There's something wrong! He's not moving or anything. He might have got hit by another airplane."

Last Friday's crash was the worst in aviation history. The TWA craft went down in flames on Staten Island. The United jet, crashed 11 miles away into a crowded Brooklyn area.

In Washington Wednesday night, FAA Administrator E. R. Quesada said the Preston holding stack—where planes circle while waiting to land—and the Idlewild radar were working normally at the time of the crash. The jet was headed for Idlewild, while the TWA plane was being brought into La Guardia.

Quesada said Idlewild's approach control was "prepared and ready" to guide the jet into the airport but could not locate the DC-8 in or near the pattern to which it had been assigned. Federal authorities previously had said the jet—Flight 626—was about 11 miles off course when it collided with TWA's Flight 266. The recordings also disclosed that, with the TWA plane gone from the radar scope, La Guardia called Idlewild: "This is La Guardia. I think we've got an emergency. Nobody declared anything but who is that jet or fast-moving aircraft that went from Preston toward Flatbush (in Brooklyn)?"

"From Preston toward Flatbush?" Idlewild asked. "Yes, he's at Flatbush right now," said La Guardia. "A fast-moving aircraft going where?" asked Idlewild. "Do you know his destination?" "I don't know," replied La Guardia. "I think he may have—now listen to this! He may have hit one of our aircraft. We're not sure."

A pause, and then La Guardia said: "All right, now we got troubles, but we're not sure of it. We lost contact with a TWA, 266. I believe his number is. He was on a collision course with an aircraft, an unknown aircraft heading northeast from Preston toward Flatbush."

Later, Idlewild told La Guardia: "He (the jet) was last cleared to 5,000 feet."

"Oh boy!" exclaimed the La Guardia controller. "Our man was five (5,000 feet), too. We lost one aircraft. I don't know where he is now."

A short time later, from the La Guardia controller: "Hey Joe, we might have a midair collision, so Walt's going up to alert the emergency equipment. It's TWA 266. The jet was inbound from Chicago. The jet was inbound from Chicago. The Constellation from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio."

Denies Threat to Any Negro Sharecropper

MEMPHIS (AP)—A white landowner denied in federal district court Wednesday that he ordered a Negro sharecropper off a farm because the tenant wanted to vote. "I wanted the farm next year so I could mechanize it," testified John T. Gillespie, one of 37 Haywood County landowners charged by the Justice Department with taking reprisals against Negroes who sought to vote. The hearing on the government's plea for a preliminary injunction to block eviction of about 300 Negroes from farms in the west Tennessee county moves today into its third day before Judge Marion S. Boyd.

The government sued under the 1957 Civil Rights Act which forbids threats or intimidations to voters. Government lawyers rested their case after nine white witnesses—including a banker, a druggist and a cotton ginner—in and refusing to sell them necessary supplies.

Youngsters Just Wanted Santa

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Children asking to speak to Santa Claus have been calling Mrs. George W. Potts for three weeks. She went along with the small fry until Wednesday when her father than testify. Earlier, 10 Negro farmers testified they received eviction notices effective Jan. 1, or had their credit standings threatened, shortly after registering to vote.

The Haywood County registration books were opened to Negroes this year for probably the first time this century. Negroes compose about 60 per cent of the county's population.

A total of 74 Haywood county residents were named in the suit, filed Sept. 13 by U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers. The court action was the first under the 1957 law dealing with voter intimidation.

In addition to the eviction charges, the defendants were accused of denying Negroes credit and refusing to sell them necessary supplies.

Pig Crop Shows 11% Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today reported the 1960 pig crop at 88,854,000 head, a decline of 11 per cent from the 1959 crop of 99,265,000 head.

This decline reflected the sharp downturn in hog prices last year and early this year—a drop that followed on the heels of previous large crops.

The department estimated this year's fall crop at 41,530,000 head, down 3 per cent from the 42,775,000 head produced during the 1959 fall season.

Fall pigs will provide pork supplies during the late winter, spring and early summer.

The 1960 fall pig crop compared with the 1959 crop by states included:

Arkansas—317,000 and 342,000.

Designer May Prove Very Influential

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Oleg Cassini may not have achieved Cabinet status with his appointment as the next first lady's chief designer. But in his way he may be pretty influential — especially among American women.

"The Jackie Kennedy look will sweep the country," he predicts. "It will develop in France and Italy. She will be the most-seen, the most-talked about, the most-photographed woman in the world."

"For the first time in history all the elements are present to make a tremendous fashion story: the looks, age, style sense of the next first lady. Measure that against what we've had in the past. They've been very fine first ladies but minus zero to the fashion world."

Cassini, 47, dapper, slim and mustached, is feeling modest about his new eminence, elated about the chance to "glorify the American look that has never been defended by anyone except me," and somewhat belligerent about the skeptics.

There's no doubt that Mrs. Kennedy, long a loyal customer of the Paris couture and especially of the avant-garde designer Givenchy, threw the fashion world into a tizzy the other day with her selection of Cassini clothes. A most un-Givenchy designer, Cassini delights in revealing the figure—"I look at fashion with the eyes of a man," he declares stoutly.

He says his Kennedy assignment includes doing "the majority of all her things, plus coordinating hats, shoes, bags, jewelry. It's going to be a big job, especially since she's not going to be in New York."

The first Cassini gown will be worn at a gala Jan. 19 in Washington.

"Mrs. Kennedy is the best prototype of the American girl," insists Cassini, Paris-born of an Italian mother and titled Russian father.

"She can go no more to the French. She has to push American business, and the dress industry is the third largest in the country. It's tremendously important for the economy and well-being of our country. Together—her wonderful sense of style and my designs—we will sell something here in this country, instead of having it transferred from Europe."

"I will study all the things good on her and bad, although," he adds quickly, "she can wear almost everything. But she has preferences. Out of this will evolve a real Jacqueline Kennedy look."

He defines the look: "Imagine a royal princess with a touch of fashion fantasy. She'll be elegantly dignified. There will be none of the dowdiness that goes with great austerity. There's going to be pepper there. But it will be in extremely good taste—and very much herself."

Furniture Taken a Second Time

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Thieves weren't content with carrying away all the furniture at the Jimmy Ray home recently. It happened again Wednesday night.

The first burglary was Dec. 7, the day after Ray's wife presented him with a new son. Besides furniture, the burglars took clothing, appliances, a sewing machine and even an electric heater.

Ray managed to get enough money to replace some of the loss and buy a few Christmas presents. The family moved back in last Friday.

They went out Wednesday night and the burglars struck again.

The presents for the 2-year-old daughter and her piggy bank were in the lot this time.

What does Ray, a laundry truck driver, plan now?

"I don't know," he said. "I've gone into debt buying what was

'Political Knife' Starts in Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—The Cabinet today began wielding the "political knife." Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened for Cuba's judiciary because of its lack of revolutionary spirit.

A Cabinet decree suspended for 45 days the law preventing the removal of judges and authorized President Osvaldo Dorticos and Cabinet ministers to fire and reassign all judicial officers.

It also sliced the number of Supreme Court judges from 31 to 15 and eliminated from Supreme Court jurisdiction certain matters "lacking judicial and political importance."

Supreme Court President Emilio Menendez, who took refuge in the Argentine Embassy last month was escorted out of the country to exile Monday. He had accused the government of totalitarian practices.

stolen, we can't replace most of it. We weren't even able to fix the house so it couldn't be entered after the first time."

"But we'll get the kids something," he said.

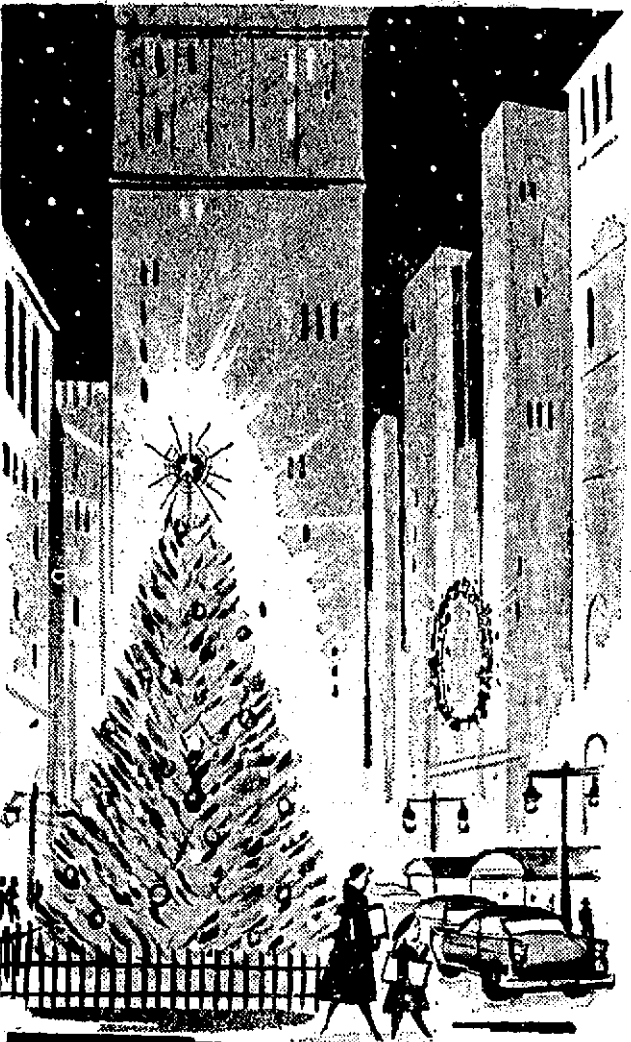

German Trade Talks Adjourned

BERLIN (AP)—East and West German negotiators today postponed further talks on restoring trade relations until Dec. 28.

The Communists are threatening difficultise for traffic to West-garrisoned West Berlin if the broken trade relations are not restored by Jan. 1.

2 Television Stars Change Roles Often

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television hero Rod Cameron, who has appeared in a long list of syndicated adventure series over the past few years, recently was asked by an interviewer how he moved so easily from one part to another. "I just change my hat," replied Cameron.

Barry Sullivan doesn't change hats quite as often or easily as Cameron, but he has survived two series—"The Man Called X" and "Harbor Master," neither of which caused any great stir in the business. Now he is playing the leading role of a marshal in a Western called "The Tall Man," an NBC entry which slipped quietly this fall into the TV stream.

On Dec. 23, however, Sullivan will be putting on his "Man Called X" hat again for an evening, the lead in a spy thriller on CBS' Steel Hour drama, "Operation Northstar."

"I wanted a change of pace and a change of scenery," explained Sullivan, "and I knew I would have 10 days off now to do the play. It's good for an actor to get to New York and have a chance to work with New York actors. And it's good to be wearing a necktie again."

Sullivan is a versatile performer—he toured with Bette Davis recently in a reading of Carl Sandburg's writings—and has no difficulty getting good parts. So, after his experiences in two short-lived series, he swore he would never get mixed up with another.

"But I have three children," he said, "and the money is a factor. For another, I've discovered that in television, a performer can be in one poor show after another and still survive without injury to his reputation. It's different in the theater or even motion pictures—there is so much television and it is so immediate that people know that you've been appearing and they know if they like you, but they tend to forget how good or bad your show was."

Reruns of "The Roy Rogers Show" will be shown Saturday morning, beginning Jan. 7. . . . Next two-part "family Classic" series on CBS will be "Vanity Fair," Jan. 12 and 13.

Recommended tonight: the June Allyson Show, CBS, 10:30-11 EST. Harpo Marx, playing a deaf mute in his noncomedy, dramatic debut, "Silent Panic."

Man 92, Plans to Be Married

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Jesse Cox, 92, applied for a marriage license Wednesday.

"That's right," said the white-haired Cherokee Indian when clerks checked his age. "I was born on the reservation and I was a scout with the 7th Cavalry in 1895 and 96. I helped tame the West."

"Then I traveled with Buffalo Bill and Annie Oakley as a rider in their show. I appeared before Queen Victoria in 1901 and I've been in show business ever since."

He and Delores Virginia Carter, 55, said they'll marry Christmas Eve and live on his small ranch in the Malibu Hills. Each has been married before.

Cox, wearing his Wild West outfit with boots, dingoar, gun belt and black shirt, said he's known professionally as "Wyoming Pete" and appears in TV westerns.

A reporter asked if he plans to carry his bride over the threshold. "You bet I am, son," Cox replied, picking up Mrs. Carter and carrying her into the license bureau. "I'm still a pretty good man."

Lighter Side of the Yule Season

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This happy Yuletide has been a time for weeping and lamentation at my humble abode. Our old car, a family pet, threw a rod while laboring down an icy street and we had to shoot it.

It was exactly eight years ago today that I bought the car as a Christmas present for my wife. I can still remember the tender scene that ensued when I first drove it home new and shiny and heavily mortgaged.
"This," I said emotionally, "is the last cotton-picking time I'm going in debt for a car. You'll have to drive this one until the wheels fall off."

"You should live so long," my wife replied, misty-eyed. "You know cotton-picking well that I can't drive."
A couple of years later, when some of the newness had worn off and I wasn't so nervous about fender scratches, I gave my wife driving lessons. This proved to be one of those adventures in togetherness that strengthen the bonds of matrimony.
Wife Learns to Drive
I mean, if your marriage can survive teaching your wife how to drive, it can stand anything. After she learned to drive it, the car helped us to appreciate the value of sharing our joys and sorrows and community property. I gave her full use of the car between the hours of 7 and 9 a.m. and she returned my unselfish gesture in a thousand little ways. What memories that old car brought back as I watched it being hauled away! Like the time our daughter got sick all over the back seat as we were returning from a trip.
It was a bitter cold day and I, whose stomach is none too stable, had to drive the rest of the way with the windows down in order to retain my own lunch.
This car was a 1952 Nash. Some of my younger admirers thought I was pretty corny to buy a Nash, but it was a wonderful car. They don't make them like that any more.

Car Wore Well

Nash went out of production a couple of years ago and I suspect the reason was that it was too durable. Unless cars wear out fairly rapidly, the dealers can't sell enough to turn a profit.
Mine had been driven more than 93,000 miles with a minimum of upkeep. It was getting better than 20 miles to the gallon and there wasn't a rattle in it.
It could easily have passed the 100,000 mile mark except for my own carelessness. Unfortunately, I let several months go by without having the oil checked. This was more damaging than the attempts by my wife to drive it without gas.
I could have had it fixed for around $200, but since it only had a $25 trade-in value, I reluctantly decided it over to my friendly neighborhood junk dealer.
It will, therefore, be a blue Christmas at our house. Six transit gloria!

Pole Train Crash Is Fatal to 3

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Three persons were killed and more than 20 seriously injured Wednesday night in a train wreck at Jaszczow, near Lublin. The Polish news agency Pap reported a freight crashed into the rear of a passenger train and the two rear passenger coaches were crushed.

Must Defend Laws He Has Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—As secretary of labor, Arthur J. Goldberg will be administering laws he has condemned as unfair to unions and has tried to have amended.
He has particularly criticized the Landrum-Griffin and Taft-Hartley Acts in his previous capacity as general counsel of the AFL-CIO.

"Landrum-Griffin is complicated, confusing, cumbersome and ambiguous," he stated in an article he and Kenneth A. Meiklejohn, AFL-CIO consultant, wrote in the Northwestern University Law Review early this year.

In testimony before congressional committees he has charged that the Taft-Hartley law curtailed union rights to picket delayed labor dispute settlements through injunctions, and abridged the right to strike.
Goldberg has hit at the general philosophy behind these two major labor-management laws in numerous speeches. He is known to support fully the Democratic party platform which pledges repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act's authorization for right to work laws and other "antilabor excesses." The platform also seeks improvement of the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.
The 1959 Landrum-Griffin law stemmed from the Senate Labor

Management Committee's investigations of corrupt labor practices. The complex law requires secret ballot elections of union officers, regulates union trusteeships, and attempts to insure membership control over union decision-making processes.
The Taft-Hartley law, passed in 1947, laid down almost an entire new labor code, replaced the Wagner Act.

New York City's oldest park—Bowling Green, to the foot of Broadway—dates back to 1732 when it was leased "to certain gentlemen to make a bowling green thereof." Before that, it served as a parade ground, an open air market and a general fari site for the exhibition of cows.
